[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Trial of the Italian Slavemaster.

NEW YORK, August 23.—At the examination of Matteo, the Italian padrone, to-day before the United States Commissioner, his counsel asked discharge on the ground that the Court had no jurisdiction, and that not being a citizen Matteo could not be tried under the Civil Rights act. The District Attorney held that defendant, being an inhabitant of the country, was amenable for violation of its laws. The court said he had doubts as to his jurisdiction; he would continue the examination, however, and at its close would take the papers.

An Unsuccessful Stratagem.

A statement is now made that Kate Stoddard's confession, which was published some time ago, accusing herself of being the murderess of Chas. Goodrich, was a police fiction to delude the alleged murderer, Roscoe, into the belief that the woman Stoddard stood accused and had condemned herself to save him, and that he need not fly from justice. The so-called confession was put forth by Commissioner Jordan and ex-Chief of Police Campbell, of Brooklyn.

A [illegible]

As Walter Gibson, local editor of a Harlem paper, was retiring from his office last evening some unknown person flung a cup of vitriol and muriatic acid in his face, probably destroying the sight of one if not both of his eyes. Revenge for personal attacks by Gibson in his paper is supposed to have prompted the attack.

The lady passengers were saved. Mr. Nelson, who was going from Shreveport to Memphis, was drowned. Mr. Davis, wife and two children, deck passengers, [illegible], were killed. The cabin was blown to pieces. The hull can be saved. WASHINGTON CITY.

Fate of the Modocs—They are to be Hanged October 3d.

WASHINGTON, August 23.—It is officially announced that the Modoc captives Captain Jack, Sconchin, Black Jim, Boston Charley, One-eyed Jim and Cox—will be hanged October 3d for the murder of General Canby and Peace Commissioner Thomas.

WASHINGTON, August 23.—The War Department promulgates in general orders the findings and sentences in the case of the Modoc captives. Captain Jack, Sconchin, Black Jim, Boston Charley, Barncho, alias One-Eyed Jim, and Slouch, alias Cox, who were tried by Military Commission for the murder of Gen. Canby and Commissioner Thomas and for assault with intent to kill other Peace Commissioners, are found guilty of specifications and charges and sentenced to be hanged. The proceedings have been approved by the President and Secretary of War. To the charges and specifications the accused pleaded not guilty, but the Commission found them guilty and sentenced them to be hanged at such time and place as the proper authority should direct. The following is an order made by the President in this matter:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE,
August 20, 1873.

The foregoing sentences in the cases of Captain Jack, Sconchin, Black Jim, Boston Charley, Barncho, alias One-Eyed Jim, and Slouch, alias Cox—Modoc Indian prisoners—are hereby approved; and it is ordered that the sentences in said cases be carried into execution by the proper military authority under orders of the Secretary of War, on the third day of October, 1873.

CINCINNATI, August 22.—An inquest on the bodies of men killed by the Marietta railroad accident resulted in a verdict that the deceased came to their death by criminal neglect of Conductor Huett and engineer Smith, of the freight train, in running out of time and recommend prosecuting them for manslaughter.

The Land Office Defended.

The charges of fraud made against the General Land Office in regard to entries of Sioux half-breed scrip in Carson City, Nevada, are without foundation. There were 101 such cases located from 1864 to 1866, and more than one-fourth of these entries were subsequently cancelled. Many were suspended for various causes and papers were issued for others. The present Commissioners have acted upon but two cases, both of them cancelled. The books of the Land Office do not show that any entries cancelled by either the present or the former Commissioners were reinstated.

Miscellaneous.

WASHINGTON, August 22.—It is officially denied that either the Peace Commissioners or the Interior Department furnished the Sioux with breech loaders or any other weapons. They may have them, but if so they must have been furnished by traders. Officials regret that the friendship of the Pawnees for the whites should excite the hostility of the Sioux, but it is not thought that the Government will interfere further than to endeavor to keep peace among all tribes. The fact that the army uses Pawnees as scouts, it is thought, may intensify the hostility of the Sioux.

WASHINGTON, August 23.—The Secretary of the Treasury has directed that interest due September 1st, amounting to about $7,000,000, be paid on and after August 25th, without rebate.

Advices from Puerto Plata to the 8th inst. report that the Government troops met with heavy losses in recent encounters with revolutionary forces on the frontier. General discontent seems to prevail among the people, and dissensions have arisen between Generals Cassieres and Gowls, chief commanders of the Dominican army, owing to partiality shown by President Baez toward the former, to whom he sent $10,000 for the payment of his troops, which Cassieres pocketed. Stratton, charging him with interfering in the case and attempting a compromise with Brigham without their knowledge, and intimating that he received pay therefor. He is charged with lying in asserting that they had defamed her character. The card is spicy and strong, and closes by stating that Mrs. Young's case is not lost. They believe that she will ultimately triumph. They will appeal to the Territorial Supreme Court, and will not trust longer to Mr. Stratton. The case is to be pushed ahead. It causes a good deal of talk.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

End of the Lincoln's Cruise for Search of Survivors of the Wright.

SEATTLE, August 23.—The following was received from Port Townsend this afternoon:

The U. S. revenue cutter Lincoln, Captain A. B. Davis, commanding, returned to this place to-day after an absence of about 20 days, during which time she has been cruising in and about Queen Charlotte and Milbank Sounds searching for tidings of the lost steamer Geo. S. Wright. This search has unquestionably been the most thorough that has yet been made. No pains were spared by Captain Davis or his officers in obtaining information. Stories of murder, foul play and captivity have been proven fallacious, and seem to have been originated by a few unprincipled white men. The Wright struck on some of the Sea Otter group, nine miles off Cape Caution, on the beach above the cape. Her masts and a considerable portion of her upper works were found. No clue to her boats could be obtained. Some of the Bella Colla Indians, who were the first to discover the wreck, were interviewed. They acknowledge having broken up pieces of the wreck containing nails, etc., and collecting a number of skins, which they took to Victoria and sold, but they totally deny having ever seen or heard of any of the crew or passengers. They gave all information freely, and were ready to produce and give up any portion of the wreck in their possession. A copper plate, evidently belonging to the gangway, was obtained from them. These Indians are peaceable and quiet, and agents of the Hudson Bay Company are men of reliable character, who have lived among them for years, and assured Captain Davis that all stories of foul play are utterly without foundation. Had any of the Wright's boats been launched some traces of them would have been found. The scene of the disaster presents a coast on which it is scarcely possible to land even in calm weather. It is almost entirely rocky, and the sea beats against it with tremendous force. That any of the unfortunate persons on board the Wright ever reached shore alive is utterly impossible, and it is to be hoped that such sinful and horrid stories as have been circulating for some time past will end.

The Marysville Appeal says: "The Chronicle editorially announces that it is about to masticate the Call—in fact, eat it up so thoroughly that not a vestige of it shall be left. Both Fitch and Pickering are to be devoured with their boots on, just as the great beast in the book of Revelations chawed up the other animals without stopping to take breath. When newspapers begin to make extended blows about the capacity of their stomachs, the popular belief that journalism represents the brains of the country will receive a decided set back."

A Richmond dispatch of August 19th says: Jeff. Davis eloquently addressed the Southern Historical Convention at White Sulphur Springs to-day. In speaking of the late war he said we have been more cheated than conquered by the declarations of the Federal President, Congress and the Generals, for there never could have been a surrender had we anticipated what has followed, and we would to-day have been free. He still had hopes of the South, because whatever men might be he never yet had seen reconstructed women, and while the men of this day are mightier than the principles for which they had struggled, he yet hoped that the children who will succeed them would grow up to faithfully maintain and perpetuate pure principles of self government, and nobly redeem all that we have lost. Mr. Davis' remarks contained no sentiment of hostility to the Federal Government.

The demand of the Wisconsin papers that Senator Carpenter shall answer the charges made against him of immoral conduct at the Long Branch Hotel are not likely to be responded to. The family of the lady have appealed to the papers which originated the report to forbear any further comment, and have demanded of the Senator to take no further action in the matter. Carpenter has written a note, in which he says he has a letter saying that he was refused admittance only because the hotel was full. The proprietors, however, say that one Thomas Murphy applied to them to write such a letter, but they refused. The husband of the lady is now in Long Branch collecting evidence, and he swears that he will procure means to proceed against the Senator and the newspapers, so as to learn which is at fault. On application at the Tribune office, he is said to have been told that the paper was prepared to prove all it had said. The husband is both the friend and protege of Senator Carpenter, who got him an appointment to some public office. Great effort is being made to conceal the name of the lady; but that is well known though there is no disposition to make it public.

DOUGLAS COUNTY POLITICS.

OAKLAND, August 24th, 1873.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

As was expected, the Republican precinct meeting here on Saturday was captured by the railroad influence. The attendance was very small, not over one-third of the Republicans being present. Those who remained absent mainly comprise those who have become discouraged in partizan wrangling, and who express themselves disgusted at the status of affairs in the Republican ranks. They will respond no longer to the call of the party bugle. It is a notorious fact that a majority of the Republicans in this precinct cannot be prevailed on to attend any political primary meetings. The farmers who compose our strength, and who were formerly the first on hand and the most enthusiastic, are now those who mainly withdraw their influence from us. They express themselves deceived, disgusted and humiliated at the status of public affairs. This leaves the primaries principally in the hands and subject to the manipulation of railroad agents, section hands and other employes of the railway, who are promptly on hand to model the primaries in the interest of Ben Holladay. Not a man of this clan was missing, while on the contrary over forty votes, representing the people—the opposition to the railway ring—were at home in their fields, resolved to let the party go to the dogs rather than come to the rescue and assist in denouncing party wrongs. With such wide-spread demoralization in our ranks, it is vain to hope for party triumph. John H. Mitchell—recently Hipple—elected as a Republican, has brought odium on the party; his influence in the Senate and before the country has withered away, and he is now an actual detriment instead of a benefit. Republicans have appealed to him to resign that the party might be saved further responsibility for his presence in the Senate. He persistently refuses to do this, but prefers that the party should rather go down with his odium than be benefited by his resignation.

It is idle to say that John Hipple has nothing to do in this campaign. The moral influence brought against us as a party on this man's very doubtful reputation is of itself overwhelming. The party leaders (at present) advising him to remain in his seat is a partial indorsement of his career, and this being understood by thousands of good Republicans throughout the State, they are determined to bear none of the responsibility, and hence absent themselves from the primaries. Add this to the grasping, dictatorial monopoly of Ben Holladay and his domineering control in the local politics of the State, and a reason is given for the apathy manifested among old line Republicans.

THE MOA STILL LIVES.—It appears that the moa, the name given by the New Zealanders to the large wingless bird whose bones are occasionally found in swamps, forests and other out-of-the-way places in that country, is not extinct, as has been generally supposed. It is stated, according to the Melbourne Argus, that a very large bird—much larger than the emu—exists in the back portions of a run in the Wain district, on the west side of the Wain, and adjoining the large bush which stretches to the west coast of New Zealand. Its tracks and footsteps have been repeatedly seen, and on a recent occasion a shepherd started the bird itself out of a patch of manuka scrub with his sheep dog. The bird ran from the dog until it reached the brow of a terrace above him, and some 30 or 40 yards off, when it turned on the dog, who immediately and wisely returned as fast as it could to the shepherd's heels. The moa stood for fully 10 minutes on the brow of the terrace, bending its long neck up and down, exactly as the black swan does when disturbed. It is described as being very much higher than any emu ever seen in Australia and as standing very much more erect on its legs. The color of its feathers is a sort of silver gray, with greenish streaks through it. If the story is true it destroys the notion that has hitherto prevailed that no large moas have been seen alive since about 1650.

Boswell, Military Department.

A correspondent at Oakland says the only local news in that "burg" last Saturday was about the primaries. The Republicans elected delegates to their County Convention as follows: G. A. Crusen, J. F. Cooper, J. B. Emery, C. Misner, John Barker, S. K. Raymond, Geo. J. Stearns, W. B. Royal. The Democrats chose Wm. Thiel, H. Abraham, J. B. Smith, I. Rice, R. Thomas, O. V. Medley and J. S. Wagner. Both conventions meet on the 31st inst.

A letter from the Superintendent of the Oregon and California Railroad to the President of the State Agricultural Society states: All stock and articles intended for exhibition at the State Fair will be forwarded to Salem at tariff rates, but will be returned free upon presentation of certificate to the Agent at Salem, signed by the Secretary of the Association, that such stock or articles have been upon exhibition, and have not changed hands. All regular trains will stop at the Fair grounds during the Fair.

The Jacksonville Times says: "Our Wallamet exchanges have considerable to say about their extraordinary large crops, and about certain fields yielding 40 to 45 bushels per acre. Rogue River Valley beats that considerably, and we will quote, as an instance, the fact that twelve acres of grain belonging to Mrs. Aaron Chambers, who lives a few miles from town, yielded the large amount of over 600 bushels, or over 50 bushels to the acre. The wheat was of the club variety. This is not an extraordinary case, but has happened all over the valley."

Mr. R. W. Crandall's sawmill, situated up in the mountains fifteen miles southwest of the Dalles, was entirely consumed by fire on Thursday morning of last week. It appears that the timber in the neighborhood of the mill was burning and all hands had gone out to fight the fire, when it seemed that the wind carried some of the fire and dropped it in the rubbish about the mill and set it on fire. When discovered it was too late to put it out and the whole concern was consumed, excepting about fifty thousand feet of lumber. The entire loss will be about $6,000.

By a private letter received in Salem, we learn that a few days ago a party attempted to scale Mt. Hood. The party consisted of three men, and when they ascended to a point where the snow was fifteen feet deep, two of the party returned. The third one declared his intention of spending the night on the mountain, and started on. It was agreed that if he was safe he would fire his gun at 9, 10 and 12 o'clock, but nothing was heard at 12, and it was feared at the date of the letter that he had perished. It is hardly supposed that a man would be so foolish as to attempt to sleep on Mt. Hood all night. It is more than likely that he became weary and returned, and that he will yet come up all right. We did not get the name of the man, but learn he was from Powell's valley.

The Mountaineer says: "From Mr. Charles Schutz, who has just returned from a trip to the Ochoco country, we learn that the mines on Ochoco creek are turning out better than was supposed from reports recently in circulation. Five or six men are regularly at work, making from four to seven dollars per day to the man. These mines are worked at great disadvantage—the men dig out dirt in dry gulches, and carry it to water and wash it with rockers. Mr. Ottinger, the discoverer of the mines, washed out one pan of picked dirt in the presence of Mr. Schutz and got four dollars in that pan, one piece weighing [illegible] and a half; the balance was heavy, smooth, [illegible] gold. The character of the gold may be [illegible] heavy [illegible] Mr. S. thinks they will eventually have a good mining camp there. He also reports the crops as looking fine and the cattle in good condition.

On Friday of last week Daniel Merritt and his brother-in-law, T. Smith, of Butte creek, in Jackson county, who were on their way to Coos Bay, camped for the night a few miles below Galesville, in Douglas county. Mr. Merritt had in the evening complained of a slight pain in the chest, but feeling well in the morning, after a hearty breakfast, they proceeded on their journey. They had traveled but a few miles when Mr. Merritt's pain returned, with severe pain in the back of his head and neck. He hurried on to Mr. Hardy Elliff's, where medical aid was sought, but he died before any assistance could be rendered. Dr. [illegible] of Canyonville was summoned, who, upon inquiry and a hasty post mortem examination pronounced the cause of his death to have been apoplexy. The deceased resided about twenty miles from Jacksonville where he leaves a wife and eight children.

The Coos Bay News of the 20th inst., says: "The quiet burghers of Empire were in unspeakable consternation, last Monday morning, by the rumor that George W. Sl[illegible], ex-Sheriff of this county, who is under indictment for embezzlement, had broken jail and left the Sheriff to deplore the iniquities of [illegible] as the Irish papers have it. The [illegible] had [illegible] been committed about midnight, as the prisoner had [illegible] about half-past nine P. M., on Sunday, by [illegible] Hill and J. M. Siglin, Esq., who talked to him regarding his approaching trial and he [illegible] the utmost confidence of obtaining an acquittal. We visited the jail on Monday morning and found that he had [illegible] his escape by boring thirty-eight holes around the staple which held the huge wrought iron [illegible] upon his door. These holes were [illegible] with a [illegible] eighth-inch auger, for which he had made a handle from one of the [illegible] of his bedstead. With this instrument he made an aperture about five inches square. He then [illegible] his bed-lath and pried the door open and lifting the outer window of the jail, cleared it at a bound and was gone. The job was done by the light of a small [illegible] which was found extinguished in his cell. He knows the country as well as an Indian, and will be hard to catch. Sheriff O[illegible] offers $200 reward for his arrest."

MONDAY MORNING, AUGUST 25 1873

THE WAY THE CAMPAIGN OPENS

The Congressional campaign opens with a liveliness that is astounding. The primaries, which we suppose may be regarded as the beginning of the campaign, were held last Saturday by both parties. It is on account of the activity and energy exhibited in this first stage of the contest, that we speak of the remarkable vigor with which the campaign opens. We have no language adequate to describe the wonderful manifestation of interest in the approaching conflict, and we, therefore, content ourselves with the bare statement of a few facts, leaving our readers to their most vivid imaginations for a picturing of the thrilling scenes of last Saturday.

The Republicans have in this city just about 900 votes. Of this number, not over one-fourth went out to the polling places, and many of those who did go, walked away again without casting a ballot. The largest precinct in the city only cast 127 votes, others cast less than one eighth of their party strength, and in one or two, we are told, there was not a vote polled. This looks like a slim showing, but the Democracy have no occasion to take comfort to themselves over it, for their primaries were as much worse off as can be imagined. With an aggregate vote of about 800 in the city, their strength shown at the primaries was less than 100 votes. At Salem, it is reported, the Democracy claim that they cast more votes at the primaries than the Republicans. The latter had five votes in the most populous precinct, six in another, and thirteen in a third. There are only four precincts in that city, and we have not heard whether any votes were cast at the fourth or not. The Democracy, we are informed, insist that they had, in the four precincts together, twenty-six votes, which is two ahead of their opponents, unless that fourth precinct gave at least two Republican votes.

If anybody thinks this is not a most enthusiastic "starter," we pity that person. Only the dullest intellects can fail to perceive in this tremendous excitement the evidence of what is to come. If the party [illegible] continue to increase till the 13th of October, we should not be surprised if one-half the voters of the State should deny themselves the pleasure of a fishing excursion on that day, in order to exercise that privilege which constitutes every full grown American citizen of the masculine gender a sovereign—or makes him worth two dollars and a half on election day, at the very least.

EXCITING TIMES

At the Morrison street primary, Saturday, there was unusual excitement. We saw there Mr. Thos. G. Young, U S. Marshal; Mr. W. F. Williams, Deputy U. S. Marshal (who, by-the-way, worked hard against Judge Wilson's election), Mr J. N. Dolph; Mr. Police Judge Denny, and two gentlemen whose names we did not know, never having seen them before. This immense assemblage of voters shows that "the big precinct" is still alive to the great importance of the occasion. Inspirited and thrilled by this manifestation of the interest of the leading precinct of the [illegible] in the [illegible] issues now before the country, we bent our steps toward the precinct of North Portland. We have a warm place in our heart for this precinct, and always feel like being on hand at any occasion of rejoicing which may come to her. So, as we remarked, we went to North Portland Precinct. There we witnessed a scene to make the angels weep for very gladness. There stood Mr. James Loten, U. S. Boiler Inspector, Mr. M. F. Mulkey, City Attorney; Mr John A. Carr, Dr. J. A. Chapman, late Chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, and another person whom we did not know, each looking each of the others point blank in the face in a silent spasm of patriotic enthusiasm. We tarried but a moment and turned away, fearing that too long gazing upon that soul-stirring spectacle might overcome us wholly. We left not a moment too soon. What consequences might have followed another minute's stay we dare not attempt to conjecture. Reveling in a delicious half-trance of joy, we strayed to Central Precinct. That also is a large precinct and makes its mark on election day, if its zeal happens to be just at the right temperature. Here we found Mr. Revenue Collector Gibson holding forth patriotically. He was alone, but the beaming of his rubicund face told the joyous story whose rehearsal the inherent poverty of language forbids us to attempt. Our memory ran back only a short distance, to the time when Mr Gibson, not then a Revenue Collector, was a very prominent and active candidate for office against the regular Republican nominee, and we could not help a feeling of pride in the growth of the great Republican party as we beheld this same gentleman now the incumbent of a lucrative Federal office, doing valiant service for the party.

The emotions that fill the breast of a true party man when he contemplates scenes like these, are among the most exalting that he ever experiences. If we ever had a doubt of the superiority of those peculiar modes of operation by which politics is managed at the present day, that doubt is set at rest forever by the scenes and incidents we have just related.

JUSTLY REPROVED

We were surprised to see in a recent number of the Coos Bay News, the following item credited to the OREGONIAN:

"Nothing stranger than this: that W M Gwin, Duke of Sonora and murderer of Broderick, is to-day a candidate for the United States Senate to succeed Eugene Casserly. Can any one imagine a stronger case of the impudence of events?"

Commenting upon this paragraph the News said:

"That Mr Lair Hill, editor of the paper above quoted from, should have given the foregoing to its numerous readers is to be regretted by all who admire impartial and independent journalism. * * * The foregoing paragraph does injustice to both the living and the dead. Injustice to the living because Dr Gwin had no more to do with Mr Broderick's death than had the editor of the OREGONIAN. Injustice to the dead because our dear and honored friend, whose estimate of manhood was not gauged by a guinea stamp, fell a victim to his own faultless courage."

When we first observed this article in the News we thought there certainly was some mistake about it, as we felt quite certain no such paragraph had ever appeared in the OREGONIAN, but upon looking through our files we discovered to our great mortification that the News was correct. A person on the editorial staff of the OREGONIAN, evidently laboring under a singular confusion of ideas in regard to the facts connected with the death of Senator Broderick, penned the item in question and it went into the paper, as a considerable portion of the matter in every paper of the size of the OREGONIAN, with its daily and weekly editions, does necessarily go in, without being seen by the editor. But as the rule by which the editor is held responsible for whatever appears in the paper is in our judgment the only rule consistent with respectable journalism, we accept the situation and submit to the just rebuke of the News. We suppose no person ever heard that Dr Gwin killed Broderick till the statement appeared in the OREGONIAN.

BUTLER'S DEFENSE OF THE SALARY GRAB

A Boston writer says Gen. Butler's defense of the salary grab fell "like lead into a still pool." The farmers and other working people, especially, are greatly incensed at the back pay steal, and the General's defense of it has met with derision where he expected it to silence criticism. So it is supposed he has made enemies instead of friends by essaying a justification of what the people regard as an unmitigated iniquity. It would have been far better for the General's prospects for the gubernatorial nomination, and for his chances of election in case he receive the nomination, if he had left this expedient untried. It is easier to argue the seal off the bond than to convince intelligent minds that a thing is right which shocks their innate ideas of honesty. Many Republicans throughout the State declare they will not support Butler if he should be nominated. The convention is to be held at Worcester on the 17th of September. Both the time and place designated by the State Central Committee are generally regarded as favorable to Washburne, and especially adverse to Butler. He wanted the Convention held in Boston sometime in the present month.

Captain Werner has not only involved himself in a court martial by his hasty action in the arrest of the Spanish iron-clads Vittoria and Salamanca, but he has dragged his Government into the Spanish complications as well. Some time since the Madrid Government sent eight hundred sailors to take possession of the captured frigates. Captain Werner refused to give the vessels up on the ground that he had not received authority from the Ministry in Berlin to yield possession. The Spanish sailors were somehow obliged to remain in Decombrato, where they were completely at the mercy of the insurgents. The ambassadors of the Republic were in danger. Captain Werner saw, perhaps, the delicate situation, and he began at once to "hedge." If harm should come to these deputies of the Government, he might be called to account, and worse might ensue. With bold ingenuity he performed the remarkable feat of declaring these eight hundred sailors and the transports which brought them to be "under his protection and that of the Government of the Emperor of Germany." The insurgents appear to have been stunned by this eminently primitive method of expounding international law. They have not attempted to recapture the frigates.

The Democracy of Portland thought they had a strong point against the Republicans Saturday afternoon, when the Republican primaries closed. They chuckled over the fact that the Republicans only had about four votes to each delegate. But when their own primaries came off at a later hour, and it was found they had less than two votes to each delegate, they concluded the subject was a good one to be silent on.

A correspondent writes us from Eugene that there was no attendance at the primaries there. Such apathy is unaccountable, but it appears to be the same throughout the country.

Additional affidavits have been made in the pending case against Duden Freres & Co. charging Richard Muser, a member of the firm, with smuggling goods into the country at different times to the value of $10 000.

Portland, Oregon, Aug 22 1873.

Mr. SAMUEL CORWIN—Sir: In justice to yourself and for the benefit of those who may be afflicted with the small pox, I am induced to give publicity to the following facts. About the 8th of July 1873 I became very unwell, having severe pain in my head, back and limbs, which continued to increase in severity for three or four days. A very high fever set in and I began to break out on my face, neck and body with what proved to be small pox. I procured of Dr Freeland, of the Central Drug Store, a bottle of your small pox remedy. Notwithstanding the severity of the attack, I administered the medicine myself, not in accordance with accompanying directions, but in about [illegible] days [illegible] all pain and fever disappeared. My recovery was extremely rapid, notwithstanding frequent exposures by moving about from place to place while in a high fever, which is generally considered fatal in that disease, and it is my firm conviction that under the ordinary treatment for that disease I would not be living to-day. I took the medicine about two and a half [illegible], perhaps more than was necessary, but [illegible] discontinue until a thorough cure was effected.

[illegible]

I know of my own knowledge that the foregoing statement is true in every particular.

E. C. FREELAND.

A NIGHT ON MOUNT HOOD

[illegible] this county. Vickers formed one of a large party which left the city about two weeks since to ascend to the summit of Mount Hood. The party [illegible] summit [illegible] Mr Vickers expressed a determination to spend the night on the summit. The rest of the party were to come down [illegible] and camp [illegible] the night. It was agreed that when the party had encamped for the night they were to build a large bonfire [illegible] plainly visible from the top of the peak and was to serve as a signal to Mr. Vickers. He had a considerable quantity of magnesium wire which he proposed to burn during the night and give certain signals to the party below. These signals were to be made in such a manner as to inform the party of his condition and of the state of the temperature at different times. The party reached the camping place and at the time designated kindled the fire which was seen by Mr Vickers. He soon after gave one signal (about 9 o'clock) by burning a portion of the wire, which was distinctly visible to the party below. In the darkness, Mr. Vickers must [illegible] and being unable to find them did not display but one signal. Long did the party wait for the second flash of the light but to their wonderment not a gleam relieved their vision. Surprise at length changed to suspense and that feeling was displaced by [illegible]. Why did not Vickers display the light? Had any accident befallen him? Had he lost his footing, and been lost in some of the many fissures or fathomless chasms? Hours passed, and still no light appeared. At length the party came to the unpleasant conviction that Vickers had laid down on the summit overcome by fatigue, and, becoming numb from the intense cold had frozen to death. With the thought uppermost that their companion lay lifeless on the summit of the bleak and desolate peak the party ensconced themselves in their blankets and endeavored to sleep off their fears. To attempt an ascent of the mountain at that late hour to ascertain what the trouble was would be but tempting their fate in the face of numberless perils. Such a thought could not be sanely entertained for a moment. Early on the following morning several of the party started up the mountain to ascertain what the trouble was. Some time was spent clambering up the steep declivities by the returning party. When near the summit the party met Vickers, who was leisurely returning to the camp. Mutual explanations were made and Vickers found himself congratulated on the fact that he was in the land of the living and was not a frozen corpse nor the proprietor of a broken neck. He stated to the party that he had passed a very comfortable night on the summit, considering the depressed state of the temperature. During the course of the night he took observations from that great altitude. The thermometer stood on an average at 4 degrees below the freezing point. He had but little trouble in keeping warm, and declared to the party that he was "in no hurry to get back." On this same trip, Miss Libbie Vaughn, of this city, was one of the party who arrived in safety at the top of the peak. That courageous young lady enjoys the distinction of being the only lady who has ascended to the summit of Mount Hood the present year.

REPUBLICAN PRIMARIES.

The Republicans of Portland held primaries in the respective precincts of the city on last Saturday afternoon, between the hours of 4 and 6 o'clock, for the purpose of electing delegates to attend the County Convention which will meet in Portland on Saturday the 30th. The following are the delegates from the respective precincts:

AMUSEMENTS.

John Wilson, the great pioneer showman of the Pacific coast and veteran circus manager, who has completed the circuit of the globe, advertises in another column the 'Great Parisian Circus.' This mammoth combination will arrive in the city the present week, and will give exhibitions on the evenings of the 28th, 29th and 30th. The Company, of which Mr Wilson is the manager, consists of about sixty persons, and has nearly 100 horses. In another column will be seen the advertisement of this circus. We call attention to the modest manner in which Mr Wilson advertises this large circus company. He wishes it to be distinctly understood that the company travels exclusively on its merits, which are not to be judged by the style of advertising. The public are invited to come and determine for themselves whether the company is worthy of patronage or not.

DEMOCRATIC PRIMARIES.—The Democrats of Portland held their Primaries last Saturday evening, from 6 to 8 o'clock, for the purpose of electing Delegates to attend the Democratic County Convention which will meet in this city on the 30th. The following are Delegates.

WORK DELAYED.—Again has work on the Stark street sewer been suspended for the want of tile. The amount on hand was exhausted last week and work ceased. No steamers are running now from this city to Buena Vista where the tile is manufactured and consequently none can be brought down. It is quite probable that one of the steamers belonging to the Willamette River Transportation Company will be chartered for an extra trip to bring down a load of tile. If this cannot be done a sufficient quantity of tile will probably be brought down on barges in a short time. Until the arrival of this necessary article work will be suspended.

FAREWELL SOCIABLE.—The ladies of the Taylor street M. E. Church will give a sociable and Pastor's farewell greeting, for the Conference year on next Wednesday evening. All are cordially invited to be present on the occasion.

PERSONAL.

J F Brown Esq of Laporte is visiting Portland.

Police Commissioner W P Burke and Capt J. R. Wiley sailed away last week in the little sloop Annie Doyle, for a short visit to the sea side. They will probably return this week.

Mr J Brandt, late master mechanic of the Oregon & California Railroad, has been appointed Superintendent of that road, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Mr J C Hildreth.

Among the passengers by the Dixie Thompson on Saturday were Bishop Morris, Rev Mr Rosenberg, J W Cook, Brooke Trevett, Chas Hutchard, Charles E Calef and family, and George L Story, most of whom were destined to Clatsop.

We learn that Dr Haskell, who was a sort of John the Baptist, or forerunner to Wilson's Circus, when it was here last summer, has gone into the newspaper business, being now on the editorial staff of the San Francisco Chronicle. So it seems that Wilson not only transports elephants, etc., but editors also.

Among the passengers on the steamer Oriflamme, bound for this port, we observe the names of Col C H. Larrabee, Bishop Jesse T Peck and Rev H C Benson. The two last mentioned gentlemen are on the way hither to attend the session of the Methodist Conference which will convene at Olympia on the 3d of next month.

Mr. Henry Bishop, the agent for Madame Anna Bishop, is in town arranging for the appearance of the renowned cantatrice.

THE PAWNEE MASSACRE.—The following account of the recent fight between the Pawnee and Sioux Indians has been received at the War Department, through General Sheridan from the Superintendent of Indian Affairs at Omaha. It is dated Pawnee Agency, Nebraska, August 9th.

This morning John Williamson, Sub-Agent in charge of the Pawnee hunters returned and said that after a successful hunt in which they killed a thousand buffaloes and being heavily laden with meats and hams on their return home they were surprised in camp by the Sioux, [illegible] to be 1,000 strong and before they could escape or make a successful resistance, 100 men, women and children were slain and scalped. The wounded, dead and dying women and helpless children were thrown in to a heap and burned in the most barbarous manner possible. Comparatively few women and children of the tribe were with them but near all who were there became victims of the ruthless and unprovoked slaughter. Buffaloes had just been seen, possibly decoyed within their view and many of them were out after them. "Sky Chief" was killed. Williamson made his escape on horseback, but lost his [illegible] horse and all his goods. Young Platte, companion to Williamson also lost his horse. They met a few soldiers from Fort McPherson and gave them the particulars of the massacre. The Pawnees are sorrowful and disheartened, and are returning home as fast as possible. Williamson brought six badly wounded Indians to Silver Creek station, and David Davis, with teams, was left to bring them home. Much excitement prevails, and a spirit of war is running at fever heat. Williamson's runners report only two Sioux killed.

WINE WORTH $40,000 A DROP.—The city of Bremen possesses twelve hogsheads of what according to certain calculations undertaken by the Neue Freie Presse must be the most expensive beverage in the world. The town purchased in 1624 twelve hogsheads of Rueshimer at 300 gold thalers each. These were placed in the municipal cellars, where they still remain. At the end of next year these hogsheads will be 250 years old, and will, reckoning the interest on the original price at 5 per cent., have cost 790,680,000 Prussian thalers. The waste of wine from evaporation is always estimated at 5 per cent. per annum; there remain consequently, only 465 bottles of the original supply. This annual loss has been made up by means of old wine found in the cellar. Calculating the price of a bottle of this wine at one thaler only, the 216,000 bottles which will have thus been added by the end of 1874, will be worth 3,427,920,000 thalers granting the same rate of interest 5 per cent. At the end of next year the twelve hogsheads thus replenished will have cost 4,218,[illegible] thalers giving an average of 241,242 thalers per bottle. The hogsheads are not however all of the same value. They are filled up on a system by which the wine added must in the course of time, pass through all the eleven hogsheads before reaching the last which contains the oldest and most precious liquid, each drop of which, reckoning a bottle at 1,000 drops, is now worth 8,000 thalers.

Some people may become excited over the terminus of the Northern Pacific Railroad on Puget Sound but it does not disturb Jack A. Waldman corner Front and Washington streets. Rice, of Albany, Secretary.

The following are the resolutions adopted:

WHEREAS, It has pleased the Divine Ruler of the Universe to remove from our fellowship by death our esteemed brother Isaac I Fish, therefore be it

Resolved, That in the death of Isaac I Fish we feel that we have lost a dear friend and companion and his family a kind and affectionate son and brother, one who was ever faithful and obliging, and who by his sterling qualities of head and heart had endeared himself to all.

Resolved, That our heartfelt sympathies are tendered to his father, mother, sisters and brothers in this their great affliction, hoping that the Supreme Superintendent who in His divine wisdom saw fit to deprive us of our fellow operator and them of their dear son and brother will administer such consolation as He alone can afford.

COOS BAY ITEMS

From our correspondent at Empire City we have received the following notes:

The newly elected officers of Eaton Lodge No 86 I O G T were installed here last week.

Nine hundred and fifty tons of coal and 100,000 feet of lumber was shipped during the past seven days.

Your big fire created considerable excitement here. Coos Bay sends sympathy—and coin if called upon.

Business has been dull but we look for better trade in the fall—the opening of the new mines having a tendency in that direction.

There was but one arrival last week ending the 11th—the bark Josephine. Sailed—Steamer Eastport, schooners Enorah and R. H. Ramsdell.

Sleeper, the embezzling ex-Sheriff escaped from the county jail on the night of the 17th inst, by means of an auger with which he bored the woodwork away from the staple and lock which held the cell door. Sheriff Owen is looking for the persons who provided the tools for the purpose of assisting the prisoner in making good his escape and a reward of $200 is offered for the apprehension of the absent one. Mr Sleeper is wanted at the September term of court when his trial takes place.

TO THE PUBLIC.

We are now getting on the way a new and fresh stock of fine furniture which will be superior in quality and newer in design than the one destroyed by the fire and which we will offer for sale on advantageous terms. Meanwhile we are well prepared to supply the present demand from our temporary location corner of Fifth and Taylor streets, near the U S Custom House. Respectfully,

HURGREN & SHINDLER

Madame Anna Bishop will be assisted by Mr Alfred Wilkie, tenor; Mr I G Gottschalk, baritone, and Mr Frank Gilder pianist.

MONDAY MORNING AUGUST 25 1873

THE CENTENNIAL [illegible] ABROAD

It is gratifying to observe that the plan of making the centennial anniversary of the birth of liberty in America something more than a Fourth-of-July glorification has secured for the [illegible] a friendly interest in Europe. The following extended notice of the enterprise forms the leading article in a recent number of The [illegible] Daily News:

The people of the United States are actively [illegible] for one of the greatest birthday festivals the world has ever seen. On the 4th of July, 1876, the Republic will have completed its [illegible] and its centenary is to be [illegible] by the holding of the great international exhibition which has been [illegible] to take place in the city of Philadelphia. It is not given to many nations to have a birthday and it is only the youngest of the family which has [illegible] able to keep it in the [illegible] fashion. The inhabitants of the northern half of the North American continent are once a year reminded of the distinction they enjoy by a simultaneous outburst of [illegible] and [illegible], of cannon and [illegible] all over the country from the great lakes to the Mexican gulf, and from the Atlantic cities to the Pacific. The [illegible] of Gen Grant have resolved that the centenary of the nation, the "Centennial," as the Americans call it, shall be kept in a different [illegible]. The [illegible] of an [illegible] exhibition [illegible] with Mr John Bigelow [illegible] Prof. Campbell of Indiana took up the [illegible] and in a letter to the Mayor of Philadelphia urged that the [illegible] of Philadelphia was the appropriate [illegible] of the centenary festival. The [illegible] of the State, [illegible] on the centennial, took up the [illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] of Fairmount park as the most fitting site for the [illegible]. At that time the nation was not fairly [illegible], and it was [illegible] to say whether a [illegible] of the [illegible] be [illegible] on the [illegible]. But the [illegible] had already so far [illegible] from the [illegible] of the [illegible] that in [illegible], 1871, [illegible] an act [illegible] the holding of the [illegible] and [illegible] a C[illegible] to carry it out. This act directed [illegible] the exhibition by [illegible] for the [illegible]. All this [illegible] has now [illegible], the [illegible] for a [illegible] and iron [illegible], and on the [illegible] of the [illegible] July the [illegible] by [illegible] of the site to the C[illegible]. The [illegible] and the spot [illegible] for the [illegible] may are to be [illegible] of any former exhibition [illegible] of the [illegible]. The two [illegible] it with all the [illegible] in the Un[illegible], and in the whole of the [illegible] into the [illegible] to be [illegible] that the [illegible] of the [illegible] like the [illegible] of the [illegible] will be one of the [illegible] ful and [illegible].

[illegible] in holding the exhibition in P[illegible]. The city is the actual [illegible] of the [illegible] was [illegible], and that it was in [illegible] that [illegible] was won, but it was in Philadelphia that [illegible] was born in a day. The exhibition will [illegible] in the strict, not only in [illegible] as a [illegible] festival, but in the [illegible] which it will suggest. It is the [illegible] with [illegible] our own build[illegible] in [illegible] in 1851 was [illegible] the [illegible] will at [illegible] step be [illegible] of the [illegible]. The host [illegible] is to occupy the site of the [illegible] the hall [illegible] by the [illegible] was the [illegible] of [illegible], who had [illegible] of War [illegible] who was the first [illegible] by W[illegible] the first [illegible] of the [illegible], and who was the [illegible]. In the city [illegible] on the [illegible] of the [illegible], all the [illegible] of the centennial [illegible] their [illegible]. Here it was that the [illegible] as it was [illegible] and [illegible] of the [illegible], the [illegible] on the day [illegible] lives. The [illegible] the old and [illegible] in the [illegible] in the old [illegible], and may be [illegible] not [illegible] which is [illegible] is [illegible] a foot of soil of the [illegible] through [illegible] of the [illegible]. The [illegible], not only the [illegible] will find [illegible] best [illegible] of in the [illegible] in 1776, had a [illegible] two [illegible] and a half, the [illegible] which [illegible] was [illegible] to the [illegible] on Independence day, this [illegible] of people [illegible] ally as [illegible] as it [illegible] economically and socially may [illegible]. But the multitudes who will [illegible] to Philadelphia from all parts of the [illegible], in 1876, will [illegible] gather [illegible] the [illegible] of the [illegible] which was the [illegible] of the [illegible] won by [illegible], and Franklin, and Adams. The [illegible] of the exhibition itself is quite worthy of the [illegible]. The [illegible] in its [illegible], its [illegible], and its pro[illegible]. One [illegible] of the exhibition as a centennial celebration will be derived from the fact that it will give [illegible] of the [illegible] of the country. The [illegible] adopted is both geo[illegible] and [illegible] and includes all the [illegible] of nature and art of the soil, and of the manufacturing industry of the people. The historical de[illegible] of the [illegible] will also be shown by the inclusion of the manufactures and products of former generations. The exhibition will thus not merely keep the centenary birthday of the nation but show its [illegible] in the arts of peace during the hundred years which make its history. Indeed the [illegible] of the [illegible] to do [illegible] like this, not for the American [illegible], but for the [illegible] human race. For example, the [illegible] on fish and fish[illegible] to have models [illegible] to scale of all the boats, smoke-h[illegible], etc., [illegible] in the [illegible] of that region. The commissioner, Mr Spencer Baird reports that he hopes to bring together a complete [illegible] of machinery now used for the capture of fish all over the world, and thus to complete the collection in the Smithsonian institution which includes most of the [illegible] used by the civilized and uncivilized nations in historic times. The representation of human skill goes back indeed far beyond [illegible] times; for it is to begin with the [illegible] and basest implements of the primeval generations, and end with the most finished machinery of [illegible] days. The completeness of the exhibition as a picture of the industries of the American continent is probably assured by the cordial co-operation of all the States and [illegible] its [illegible] as a representation of the industry of the world depends on the co-operation of the foreign Governments. The acceptance of the invitation which the President has just sent out is to be notified by the 4th of March next and no exhibitors will be introduced except from countries whose Governments have responded favorably. We [illegible] hardly expect the hope that all civilized Governments will join to make the exhibition as perfect as possible. It is the first held on the American continent and the American people have asked for and will receive the help of all the world to make it a complete representation of human industry.

Thus far during the month the French Government has suppressed or forbidden the sale of twenty Republican newspapers in the provinces. The [illegible] of the Left intend to publish a protest against those suppressions, and [illegible] the Government on the subject when the Assembly meets.

Wheat in Liverpool—Average California, [illegible] 12s 7d Club 12s [illegible] 9d.

The [illegible] of our local finances [illegible] be the subject of some remark but the prevailing sentiment just now is that of hopefulness [illegible] future. The complaint of "hard times" [illegible] is sometimes heard, but men on whose [illegible] can be placed seem to have but [illegible]. The ease in money matters at the East and [illegible] of capital there seeking investment can not but have its effect on our [illegible], and we shall probably hear of but [illegible] in the way of [illegible] to [illegible] the grain, which as the harvest advances proves to be beyond all expectation as to quantity and excellent in quality. We learn that a large [illegible] could be [illegible] here on long time to support those of our citizens who desire to [illegible] and that the available funds here are inadequate [illegible] in that direction. However many of the sufferers have either begun or will shortly begin to re-establish themselves, thus giving employment to the laborer and mechanic and putting [illegible] into circulation in our midst.

San F[illegible] W[illegible] Market

The San Francisco Bulletin of the 19th, thus speaks of the advance in wheat in that city

The price of wheat in this market rose [illegible] up to $2 10 @ 109 lbs for shipping sorts, and $2 15 for [illegible] choice lots of local milling. The [illegible] during the day were [illegible] for the season exceeding [illegible] centals. There were [illegible] in the country at relatively high prices than those paid here. These heavy transactions [illegible] brought in place exporters in a comfortable position with reference to the loading of the ships which they have [illegible] how they can get [illegible] lost is not [illegible], as the [illegible] the cargo abroad ship [illegible] freight, is above the Liverpool [illegible]. The effect of [illegible] high rates for wheat has been to depress [illegible]. There are [illegible] here and to arrive that [illegible] been [illegible] at £4 and [illegible], and most of the [illegible] some of [illegible] in port is held at £4 [illegible] the [illegible]. [illegible] from San F[illegible] to Liverpool is not an exorbitant [illegible]. It might [illegible] for a vessel to arrive here from the [illegible] side, and [illegible] to return. The rate of [illegible] is light [illegible] $6 to $15 per ton [illegible] in the [illegible] for [illegible] in this [illegible]. If [illegible] rates outward from this port. In New York [illegible] from $2 to [illegible] for [illegible] to Liverpool. This is [illegible] to $9 50 per [illegible] ton for a voyage that can be [illegible] in a [illegible]. The [illegible] from San F[illegible] to Li[illegible] in [illegible] and, at the [illegible] in New York, [illegible] is net $20, and yet $20 is regarded as an [illegible].
